OUR FRIEND NOONE TELLS THE PRESIDENT WORLD'S GOING MAD

Our democratic friend, active politician, and business man of Peterborough, the Hon. Albert W. Noone, who from time to time throws a few bombs into the ranks of the party in New Hampshire, has sent a letter to President Wilson in which he informs the chief executive at Washington that the world is going mad. His letter is the following:
Pres. Woodrow Wilson,
Washington, D. C.

My Dear Mr. President:—
You are doing your duty. The people are with you in every move you make, with money and men. You must aware of political and socialistic elements. The whole world is going mad. The United States must keep cool, and when the time comes, empowered by our trained soldiers, we will be able to settle democracy for the whole world for the next one hundred or one hundred and fifty years; then another upheaval, history will repeat itself.
Respectfully yours,
Albert W. Noone.

Grandma Never Let Her Hair Get Gray

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

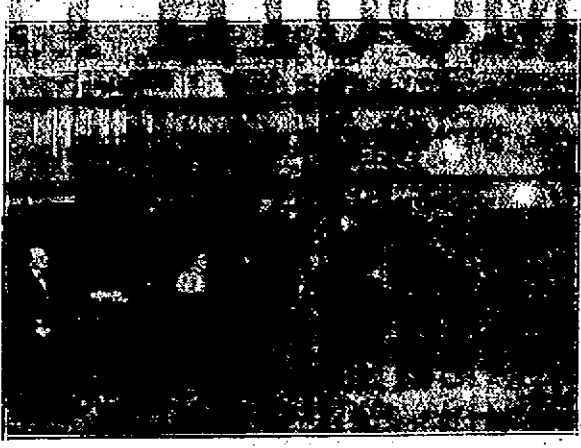

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You must dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time. By rubbing all the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Compound, and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure of disease or prevention of disease.

BROWNING GUNS BEING DELIVERED

Washington, Feb. 26.—The Browning machine rifle adopted for the American Army in France and declared by ordinance experts to be the greatest weapon of its kind, is now being turned out in three factories. Sixty guns have been delivered today, and more than one hundred have been delivered. The guns will be put to an exhibition demonstration here tomorrow. Deliveries will continue in increasing numbers and the Department estimates that high production mark will be reached in June when several thousand will be turned out each week.

"This is gratifying," said Mr. Baker today, "as it has been the experience of the Government heretofore that machine-gun production has rarely met its determined schedule. It is a matter of satisfaction that there has been no delay in bringing the quantity manufacture of the Browning rifle to a point which promises adequate supplies for the trench warfare of the expeditionary forces and ample opportunity to give the necessary training in the use of these guns to the mobilized Army."

It also was announced that production of the Colt-Browning machine gun, the heavy type, soon will be in progress on a quantity basis.

Out of 47 men examined by Draft board No. 7, Milwaukie, Tenn., not a man was rejected. Fifteen of the men, however, must undergo further medical examination.

Smart who is to shortly enlist in the navy. The men will be hard to replace as the high wages and short hours make the pay of an officer and the corresponding long hours a position not sought after by men that the Commission are anxious to get.

Sure corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of Freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callosity without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This simple drug while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's foot.

Latest idea is milkless butter.

Concord, Feb. 27.—Milkless butter is the latest. Ordinary butter is very expensive and even when you can afford it, every time you use it you are depriving Uncle Sam's soldiers and those of his allies of their vitally necessary ration of fat.

A London expert has just discovered how to make butter out of potatoes, and it is worth trying.

"Put the potatoes and salt or steam until they fall to pieces. Rub through a fine sieve into a large bowl which has been warmed. To every fourteen ounces of mashed potatoes add two ounces of butter or margarine, and one teaspoonful of salt. Stir thoroughly with the back of a wooden spoon until the whole is smooth. The butter may then be made up into pounds or half pounds. It should be kept in a cool place. A few drops of coloring will improve the appearance. If it is to be kept for more than a few days butter preservative should be added. The potato compound may be wrapped in grease-proof paper to prevent the surface becoming dry."

This means for the New Hampshire housekeeper that she can make one ounce of potato butter from two ounces of butter that she buys at the store, or, putting it another way, every pound of store butter can be made into eight pounds of potato butter.

USE WATER POWER IN DOVER MILLS

For the second time within a fortnight the Pacific Mills Company has been able to save coal by the high water in the Cocheco river. Monday, a high temperature, aided by the rain, melted the snows so rapidly that the river flowed over the company's dam nearly two feet Tuesday, developing, it was stated, more than 1300 horsepower. The company banked some of its trees and used water power. The draw was checked by Tuesday's sudden drop in temperature.

Out of 47 men examined by Draft board No. 7, Milwaukie, Tenn., not a man was rejected. Fifteen of the men, however, must undergo further medical examination.

Smart who is to shortly enlist in the navy. The men will be hard to replace as the high wages and short hours make the pay of an officer and the corresponding long hours a position not sought after by men that the Commission are anxious to get.

Sure corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of Freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callosity without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This simple drug while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's foot.

Latest idea is milkless butter.

Concord, Feb. 27.—Milkless butter is the latest. Ordinary butter is very expensive and even when you can afford it, every time you use it you are depriving Uncle Sam's soldiers and those of his allies of their vitally necessary ration of fat.

A London expert has just discovered how to make butter out of potatoes, and it is worth trying.

"Put the potatoes and salt or steam until they fall to pieces. Rub through a fine sieve into a large bowl which has been warmed. To every fourteen ounces of mashed potatoes add two ounces of butter or margarine, and one teaspoonful of salt. Stir thoroughly with the back of a wooden spoon until the whole is smooth. The butter may then be made up into pounds or half pounds. It should be kept in a cool place. A few drops of coloring will improve the appearance. If it is to be kept for more than a few days butter preservative should be added. The potato compound may be wrapped in grease-proof paper to prevent the surface becoming dry."

This means for the New Hampshire housekeeper that she can make one ounce of potato butter from two ounces of butter that she buys at the store, or, putting it another way, every pound of store butter can be made into eight pounds of potato butter.

CLEAR ARMY OF ENEMY ALIENS

Ninety-Eight Discharged at Camp Devens
--Some Had Made Good Soldiers--
Last of 15 Per cent Quota In

(By Associated Press)
 Ayer, Mass., Feb. 26.—Ninety-eight German and Austrian aliens were discharged from Camp Devens today, as a result of the orders from Washington to clear out all enemy aliens from the camps. Some of them had taken out their first papers and had risen to non-commissioned officers, while the greater number had purchased liberty bonds and the most of them protected themselves with the soldiers insurance. Today a good many of them stated that they would continue to make payments upon their bonds and keep up their insurance.

 From morning to night the long line of the last draft men came into camp today from Massachusetts making a total of 5000 of the last fifteen per cent. Tomorrow when the 1200 men arrive from Connecticut it will complete the last of the men.

GERMAN PEACE PLANS HEDGED WITH RESTRICTIONS

(By Associated Press)
 The German Imperial Chancellery has again told the Reichstag that general peace is possible if the discussion of the four principles laid down by President Wilson are carried out. In almost the same breath he puts in the usual qualifications so entwined about the utterance as to leave the suspicion that if they desire peace it will be at the old idea of a German victorious peace along lines that they have long laid down.

The German government, he declared, was for peace and at the same time the people of the world want peace, and he said that other voices would soon be heard in England and that he hoped that they would multiply. The Chancellor spoke without rancor and appeared as though the German government was most generous in their attitude toward peace, but he appeared at all times to be speaking for home consumption to appease the people who have declared upon opposition to the renewal of the war on Russia.

objectives have been obtained. There has been some opposition in northern Russia but not of enough weight to interfere at all with the steady advance of the Teutons.
 An official proclamation issued in Petrograd calls upon the people to rally to the defense of Russia if the Bolshevik government is to be retained and a call is also issued for the people to aid in preparing the defenses of the capital by digging trenches etc.
 The American ambassador, David R. Francis, and staff along with that of the Chinese and the Japanese, are preparing to leave Petrograd. The American Ambassador has notified Washington that at that time the Germans were but eight days march from the capital.
 On the various battlefronts there is a continuance of the raids and the artillery bombardments. To be sure these raids in places assume the proportion of small engagements, with thousands of men engaged and heavy artillery fire. The French have been raiding the enemy trenches breaking up offensive moves and finding out the plans of the Germans, as well as taking many prisoners.
 Near Toul the Americans are under an especially heavy artillery fire, but they are responding with remarkable ability and their accurate fire has destroyed the German first line trench.

SECOND DRAFT MAY NOT COME BEFORE JULY 1.
 Washington, Feb. 26.—Indications are that the second draft will begin nearer July 1 than May 1. The statement made by a responsible military authority a week ago today that the vanguard of the 500,000 men who will compose the second National Army would start for the cantonments "on or about May 1" was fattened by the wish. The same is true of a statement made later in the week that the men would begin to be assembled on June 1.

RUB YOUR BACK! STOP LUMBAGO

Don't drug kidneys! Rub the pain right out with old "St. Jacobs Liniment"

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Liniment." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Lumber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years. Stop dragging kidneys! They don't cause backache, because they have no nerves, therefore can not cause pain.

HARMONIZING REPUBLICAN FACTIONS

(By Associated Press)
 Washington, Feb. 26.—Chairman Hayes of the Republican National Committee, here for a conference with the Republicans to lay plans for a harmonious agreement between the National Committee and the Congressional Campaign committee and has seen all factions will be eliminated. He told of seeing Mr. Charles E. Hughes, Col. Roosevelt and receiving a message from Ex-President Taft. He said that it did not make a bit of difference how a man voted in 1912-13 or 16. We are altogether now.

COLLEGE BOYS SOLDIERS NOT EXEMPTED

POLITICAL UNREST IN IRELAND

(By Associated Press)
 London, Feb. 26.—Recent statements in the various London papers regarding the political belief, that lawlessness is spreading in the south and west of Ireland, was further called to the attention of the public by the correspondent of the Times today.
 He declared that there is an absolute disregard for the law being shown in Clonmel, Sligo, Roscommon and Mayo and he said that the general belief was that the government has told the police and soldiers not to get into trouble with the people, until after the Irish convention. This he said was all wrong for the lawless conditions were engendering the attention of the people and the Convention being forgotten.
 The state of the country was not so serious that should the National government be established right off, it would spend the most of its time enforcing the laws before it could be firmly established.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS INSTALLED

With the idea of teaching the value of saving, especially the pennies etc., among the school children, a School Savings Bank system has been established in all of the school buildings, that is all but the smaller buildings.
 The system was established by the Board of Instruction in cooperation with the three local savings banks and it is bound to be a very successful method of teaching the children the value of thrift.
 In each of the school buildings there has been installed the automatic Receiving Tellers, a machine of the slot description. The scheme is that the child having a penny places the coin in the slot, pushes it in and receives in return a stamp of one cent denomination. There are five, ten and 25-cent stamps and these are redeemable at either the Discount Savings, the Portsmouth Savings or the Portsmouth Trust and Guaranty Co.
 Each pupil desiring to start an account is given a folder, which has his name and a description of the method of saving, and as he gets the stamps he pastes them on the folder. When he has $1.00 he takes the stamps to any of the banks mentioned and they start an account with him; and as he brings in further stamps they are added to his account.
 The machines are made so that they automatically "tick" when filled with money or when out of stamps and there is nothing exposed that could be tampered with, so that they are always safe. They are under the care of the principal of the school in which they are installed. Already they are attracting a healthy attention from the children and the amount of money deposited and accounts started give promise of it being a great success. The machines are in the High, Whipple, Farragut, Haven and Lafayette schools.

It is surprising the amount of money or rather the number of school children who have money at school. To be sure it is small sums, but if they get careless of what they do with their pennies—and many are extremely so—then they are careless through life in money matters. These pennies go for candy or things they don't want and if they get in the habit of building up their savings accounts, it will be surprising the amount of money they will have in a year's time. The idea of the government thrift stamp is patterned after the school saving system, and children who desire to place their money in thrift stamps, in exchange for school stamps will be accommodated in the banks. The object primarily is to get children interested in starting a savings account.

Portsmouth is the first city in this state to establish the school saving banks, although they have been in operation for years in Massachusetts and through New York and the middle west and with wonderful success.
 The banks were installed on Monday and Tuesday by George S. Forbes of Boston who remained here for two days explaining the system to the teachers and scholars. The money received from the machines is divided equally between the three banks, but the child can take his choice of which ever they wish to start an account with, the stamps being good at any of the banks. Should a child wish to redeem his stamps they may be done, but a note from the parents is necessary.

Beware of the Profiteer.

Facts are frequently coming to light which show that not all of the high cost of living is directly due to war conditions. It is evident that many dealers in foods and other commodities are taking advantage of the conditions that exist to impose upon the people in the matter of prices and to rake in every cent and every dollar they can lay their hands on. This is an unpleasant truth, but that it is the truth is being learned by many in the severe school of experience.

That there are many profiteers in the country is beyond question, notwithstanding all the efforts that have been and are being made to suppress them. There are dealers in the most common necessities who do not hesitate to place unreasonable prices on their goods, and patrons who are too careless or indifferent to ascertain the facts are obliged to take the consequences.

For a long time there has been more or less questioning of the propriety of the prevailing high prices of shoes. It has been proved that there is no lack of hides to be converted into leather and that there is evident no good reason why the prices of shoes should be as high as they are. The shoe men complain that the packers are hoarding hides in order to raise the price, and the leather manufacturers place the blame on the shoe manufacturers and dealers.

That the retailers are at least partly responsible for the situation is made plain by a New York publication which in the course of an investigation found shoes made by the same manufacturer and of precisely the same materials were selling in that city at three widely varying prices. This shows that some of the retailers are not averse to basing their prices on "all the traffic will bear," and the practice is not confined to the shoe trade. There are many towns in which the price of sugar varies to the extent of a cent a pound, and there is at least one New England city in which a certain Boston newspaper whose price is two cents, as plainly announced on its first page, is sold at that price at some stands, while at others three cents is charged.

These things are straws which tell which way the wind is blowing. Not all dealers are dishonest or grasping. The majority of them are not, but there are enough of the grasping sort to make it advisable for every purchaser to be on his guard against the wiles of dealers who are not above extracting the last cent obtainable and charging the trouble, in case of complaint, up to the war.

A few profiteers in food stuffs have already come to grief and it is to be hoped that more of them will. The merchant who will impose upon the public at such a time as this is anything but a patriot, no matter how loyal he may profess to be, and is not to be pitted when his sin finds him out and he finds himself face to face with prosecution by the government or a serious loss of trade, "or both," as the laws frequently say in prescribing penalties.

If the various "shortages" were not so troublesome they would be laughable. Right at the start of the war bread era there is such a shortage of dark flours in Massachusetts that the State Food Administration is permitting potatoes to be sold in their place in connection with sales of wheat flour. At the rate things are going Americans bid fair to become one of the most "regulated" peoples on the face of the earth.

One prominent newspaper attempts at considerable length to convince the farmers that the crow is one of their best friends, while another recently labored to prove that snakes are a great national asset, these arguments being based on the fact that snakes and crows eat many of the pests that destroy crops. But it will be difficult to bring the farmers to view crows and snakes as assets.

Apparently the German agents have not all been rounded up. Between 100 and 200 persons engaged in making army uniforms in New York were "laid out" the other day by some sort of gas that had been introduced into an invoice of cloth. There seems to be no limit to the devilish cunning of the enemy aliens, too many of whom are evidently still at large.

The Equal Suffrage League of Boston, aroused by the recent hanging by a mob of a negro in Tennessee, has called upon President Wilson to issue a message on the subject of lynching. But the president is pretty busy just now in trying to protect the right to self-government against stragulation.

The postal department is considering an increase in pay for the rural mail carriers. There is no class of men in the country who come nearer to earning all they get.

It has been testified in the packing house hearings in Chicago that the employees of the stockyards spend $1,000,000 a year in the neighboring saloons.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Unrelenting Hellish War
(From the Chicago News)
Neither ship carpenters nor meat packers should forget to remember that this country is at war with a powerful and merciless enemy.

On An Uncrowded Route
(From the Baltimore Star)
It is not probable that Lieutenant and Mrs. Sperry, who took their honeymoon trip in an aeroplane, have set a fashion that will be widely copied for some time.

Same Distance But Further Apart
(From the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot)
Frankness compels the confession that we cannot understand why air-raiding is not a game that two can play as well as one. The distance from London to points in Germany is no farther than it is from the same points in Germany to London.

Need of Systematic Methods
(From the Springfield Union)
As between the convention and caucus system and direct primaries, we frankly confess to a belief that the former is destined to receive the ultimate approval of the Commonwealth as the thing considered, the safer and better arrangement. But we doubt the wisdom either of attempting to compromise on a fifty-fifty basis or of seeking a return to the former system by a piece-meal process. Let us have one thing or the other.

Tammany Tigerettes
(From the New York Herald)
Absolute equality of women with men in active participation in party affairs is the declared purpose of the leaders of Tammany, according to a report unanimously adopted by executive committee.

There is to be a woman captain for each election district and an auxiliary county committee of women in number equal to the existing county committee of men, and there will be as many members of the executive committee as there are men and with equal voting power.

Tammany seldom misses a trick in the way of organization, and in this matter its political opponents have been "beaten to it" in this appeal to the newly fledged women voters. And so for every active "Tammany Tiger" we are to have a Tammany Tigerette—no, no, that word is ungallant; let us say Tigerette.

Taxing Dogs
(From the Hartford Courant)
Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane of Kane, Pa., has written a tract on the subject of dogs, that might well be read everywhere. He is urging a national dog law. He points out that there are 10,000,000 dogs in this country and he figures it out that these eat from $250,000,000 worth of food up to four times that. He classifies them all as either unprofitable, luxurious or dangerous nuisances. As luxuries he says:

In addition to the tremendous expense of their keep (many of them eat as much or more than an adult man), the time expended upon them or engaged in amusement with them is valuable time lost. Many wealthy women take them in lieu of children, and with sporting men they are given first consideration, the home and family coming second.

As nuisances they convey disease, disturb the public peace, destroy sheep by the millions and are the source of hydrophobia. He urges a high dog tax so that people who feel they must keep their dogs shall pay for the privilege. He expects a bill to this effect to come up before the Ways and Means Committee of Congress.

A Danger in Wilson's Diplomacy

(From the Churchman)
England, except in pacifist circles, does not indulge the hopes that are cherished in some quarters in America that peace can be won by diplomacy. England and France, who, up to the present moment have been offering the supreme sacrifice for the defense of the world's liberty, believe that militarism can only be overthrown by robbing it of victory. Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Balfour conclude from what they have learned of the Teutonic mind, that so long as Berlin can boast of a military victory autocracy is secure in its hold over the German people. The verdict of history seems to point that way.

Trying to force a wedge between the Teutonic allies is a keen diplomatic game, provided it doesn't arouse false hopes at home. We think that part of Mr. Wilson's last noble speech before Congress, which will prove most helpful to the cause of peace, is his stern assurance to the enemy that America is being organized to win the war and that we shall never turn back till our purpose is accomplished.

France speaks through her dentist: England is always awkward in the diplomacy of words; but these two nations who have this far paid the cost of the war in blood and suffering are setting their teeth to see the grim business through. We hope that America's diplomatic peace wedges will not do more damage behind the western front than in Austria and Berlin. There is a little too much beating in America that we are furnishing all the state-manship of the war. That may be true, but England and France have thus far furnished the implements that have kept Prussia from conquering the world.

What Will the Kaiser Do With Them?
(From the New York World)

WITH THE FLAG

"THEN CONQUER WE MUST WHEN OUR CAUSE IT IS JUST."

The HERALD cordially invites recipients of mail from soldiers in any and all branches of the service to send the letters to this office for publication. All matter of a personal nature will be eliminated in the publication; also the original letter will be returned to the owner directly after its publication without in any way being marred.

Resumption of military operations against Russia will be explained and discussed in various ways to the people of Germany and Austria-Hungary, who have hardly finished their victorious celebrations of peace. Already we are told that a sickening doubt exists in Prussia of the sincerity of the Bolsheviks, and at the same time the high command of the army has been convinced that it is Germany's political and spiritual duty to "protect" the Ukraine in the fashion common to conquerors.

Why not and what else was there to expect? When Lenin and Trotsky renounced and disbanded their troops they opened wide the doors of Russia to the enemy. When they proclaimed a peace without signatures or guarantees they risked an empire upon the forbearance of a power that has no scruples in its dealings with the timid and the defenseless. Whether they engaged in these perfidies, they exposed their country to a foe who will not hesitate to help himself.

Confronting the most rapacious of autocracies, Bolshevism has been living, or pretending to live, in an unreal world where force may be overcome by false greetings and wrongs vanquished by the subtleties of mental science. Should the Germans conclude to move upon Petrograd, the question as to the true character of the Bolshevik leaders will soon find its answer. If they are only the dupes of the Kaiser, they will be abandoned; if they belong to the Kaiser by right of purchase, they will be safeguarded until they can be conveniently consigned to oblivion.

IS NEWCASTLE HAVING A SQUARE DEAL?

Editor of The Herald:
Dear Sir:—During the past few years and especially of late, I have noticed in your splendid news sheet the repeated caption "Broom Portsmouth." Good for you! Although not a native of your city, I am proud to say my ancestors settled in Portsmouth, and through closer ties I have its interest at heart—particularly its wider interests which include Newcastle.

The hub of a wheel is useless unless it is well spoke and no city can successfully boom itself without taking into partnership its suburbs or surrounding towns. Why then, confine yourself to the hard and fast limits of Portsmouth?

Newcastle is the first approach (sea-board) to Portsmouth and has a magnificent waterfront, for commercial purposes as well as for popular summer resort. In historic importance it stands among the first towns of early fame, but today it is handicapped by a system of taxation more unjust than that protected by the old settlers who held indignation meetings in the Jeffrey house.

In every other state all highways have been opened free to public travel and traffic, yet in these days of progress and economy versus H. C. L. there is a blot upon the statute books of New Hampshire which permit continued tolls in a town so situated that its natural distance from all sources of all supplies makes living unusually expensive without taking into consideration a permanent tax on entering and leaving.

Do you realize that it costs the same to haul one quarter of a ton of coal to Newcastle as it does to bring two tons? Aside from the hardship of fuel shortage and the difficulty of hauling, it is an overwhelming disaster to add $1.30 for teaming and tolls to the price of every fourth ton of coal.

Attaching no blame to the several coal dealers in your city, it does seem that the three Portsmouth members of the board of fuel administration might appreciate the circumstance and bring them to the attention of the Hon. Mr. Floyd in such a way that he will grant a larger proportional quantity to the inhabitants of Newcastle—no more coal in total, you understand, simply more at one time. When Portsmouth is allowed one fourth ton, Newcastle must add $1.30 to what the rest of Portsmouth pay, and who would object to seeing half a ton at a time go over the bridges rather than two separate loads costing double?

Load after load of fuel is carted through the town to the fort until a surplus has accumulated, the use of which would reopen the schools and churches from which the children of officers and soldiers have been barred on account of no heat for over a month. The commander of the Fort would undoubtedly be very glad to see as much as could be spared if proper authority were given him that efficiency and progress in the island town might continue.

In view of these brief facts upon which pages might be written, will you not include Newcastle in your commendable efforts towards self-advancement and assist a people who have so nobly responded to every call of the present war from Red Cross to Red Triangle, Liberty Bonds and government certificates? Past records show Newcastle in the foremost ranks of the Revolution and the Civil war, and the old town has furnished brain, brawn and blood for the just cause of freedom and the history of the Old Granite State.

Happy to rely on your future support, I am,
Respectfully,
A Friend to Newcastle and Portsmouth.

PEOPLES' OPINIONS

Talks on Coal Question
Portsmouth, Feb. 26, 1918.

Editor:
I read in your paper that a man from out of town, came here to sell his coal to help out the poor laboring man by selling coal which these dealers cannot seem to get, but nobody would let him have the use of scales or teams to haul it. And then they talk about being patriotic and doing their bit to help out. I think something should be done and done soon to relieve such a situation. These dealers have not the coal and when a man like this comes along he is rejected. People can stand so much and no more. Of course we expect to put up with some things. We can stand sugarless, workless and partless and some other "less" days, but when it comes to coalless bliss, people cannot stand it. Wood is $14 a cord; this, together with the high cost of living leaves very little of a man's pay. Once in a while we can get a quarter of a ton of coal, but one has to pay 50 or 75 cents for relivering and $2.45 for the coal. If we have to deliver it, they need not charge so much for the coal.

A CONSTANT READER.

Editor Herald:
Dear Sir:—I was sorry to see such a small attendance at the Colonial theatre when Sergt. Pheneey delivered his lecture last Thursday evening. It seemed to me a sad thing that in view of the fathers and mothers that are anxious to know the conditions that await their boys over there, that they did not grasp the opportunity to learn what warfare really is, as described by a participant.

Would it not help if the Red Cross should take charge of another lecture in this theatre, if Sergt. Pheneey would deliver his message again in the near future? A crowded house should greet this young man if he speaks here again.

Many people made comment on the size of the audience, and when a crowd that packs the house can be gathered for a musical show, it seems to me that when a really worthy cause comes that the people should respond more generously.

Trusting that the above will help not only the next appearance of Sergt. Pheneey, but all worthy movements that are helping our boys, I remain

BACKBONE.

There are two kinds of backbone—the one with the back and no bone, and the one with both back and bone—backbone! What great things have been put across in your name?

Stiffen your backbone. It is a great thing to have a big brain, a fertile imagination, grand ideals; but the man with these, bereft of a good backbone is sure to serve no useful end.

Stiffen your backbone. There is a little vine that starts at the base of great trees, then it climbs about until it squeezes and saps away unto death the tree around which it clings. It has no backbone—no vital individual strength of its own—so it seeks out to tear down and kill where there is strength, power and life. That is what backboneless men do. That is what slackers do to a Nation. So—

Stiffen your backbone. Use it to stand alone with. Use it to bolster up your power with. Use it to strengthen your Nation with. Use it for winning the War for the United States of America.

Stiffen your backbone. Enlist in the United States Naval Reserve Force today. Then a deed's done that proves you have backbone. The success of the Nation is only possible if men with backbone enlist and use their backbone to beat the Potsdam Plinkers.

500 Men are wanted and needed at once for Armed Guard duty in the U. S. Naval Reserve Force. Active duty during the war only. Good pay. Two months' pay yearly after the war. Generous family allowances. Insurance at very low cost. Education. Rapid advancement. Good meals. Dry place to sleep. Seaman's rating when you enlist. Ten weeks of splendid training before going on regular duty. Address Enrolling Officer, U. S. N. R. F., Portsmouth, N. H. Any information you desire will be promptly sent you upon request.

STRAWBERRY BANK GRANGE.
A regular meeting of Strawberry Bank Grange will be held at Grange hall Thursday evening, Feb. 28, at 7.30, when a large class of candidates will be instructed in the work of the first and second degrees.

The following program will be presented by the lecturer: Song, Miss Ingalls; essay, "The Farmer's Part in the World War," Mrs. C. E. Hodgdon; discussion, "Should the prices of food and fuel be controlled by the Government?" E. T. Hartson, Fred Oldfield, Frank Woods, A. O. Jenfield; tableaux, Spring and Summer; song, American. A box party will be a feature of the social hour, followed by games and dancing. Enjoying patrons especially invited.

That the members of the war board are wearing a service button, adopted and sent out by the war department.

That the challenges for Bill Dryden are coming fast.

That if he took them all on he would have no time for turning.

That the Newburyport school board grants more pay to teachers over the mayor's protest.

That Dennis Kelley and John Weston, the latter a former special officer, are understood to be applicants for positions of patrolmen in the police department.

That the Electricians' Union was organized in this city on Tuesday evening. Elmer P. Frisbee is the president and Howard Hyman secretary.

That the residents of Kittery are protesting over the water situation in that town.

That people residing on high land say that pressure does not reach them.

That they are obliged to carry water in the old fashioned way from wells.

That the cause is said to be owing to the navy yard taking such an enormous supply.

That with the business Portsmouth expects to do this summer the question of water supply should not be overlooked by the city council.

That junk licenses so far are not coming very fast.

That a number of carpenters from the northern part of the state arrived here today for shipyard work.

That we get an extra election this year for the constitutional convention.

That a local coal dealer who has been serving out quarter ton lots admits that he had one put over on him a few days ago.

That a customer who ordered a quarter ton received a ton and the dealer could do nothing about it.

That he sent a driver out with four quarter ton lots for four customers, divided in parts in the sleigh.

That the driver hauled up to the residence of the first man on Middle street to deliver his share.

That the sleigh tipped over in front of the residence and the four quarter tons of the black diamonds were all mixed into one lot.

That the driver had no way of rightly separating it again and Mr. Middle street resident gets a ton lot in his bin.

That we are yet to learn of the training quarters of the Sunset League stars.

That some local public corporations pay as much attention to a protest from the public as they do the wind.

That it looks like the gay white way at Freeman's Point at night.

The man was bending over and suddenly straightened up and struck the guard over the head with a club. Hogan was dazed but on recovering from the blow started a search which resulted in his discovering a suspicious looking object under the compressor machine. He picked it up and hurried it as far as he could. As it struck the floor it exploded, breaking about 30 windows. It is believed that it was meant to wreck the plant in order to hinder operations at the ship plant.

RYE

Rye, Feb. 27.—Two French soldiers in the trenches were talking together. "Well, win," said one, "if they'll only hold out." "They? Who?" said the other. "The civilians at home," replied the first.

The truth in this bit of dialogue applies with equal force to America as well as to France; and on every hand we are urged by necessity and patriotism to a fuller interpretation of our individual responsibility in the great war. The importance of the American housekeeper's part in winning the war cannot be too strongly emphasized, even at the risk of frequent repetition. It is only through the intelligence and willingness of American women to apply the principles of good substitution and conservation that the allied armies can be fed. There can be no abatement in this service while the war lasts.

"What to eat in war time" is the subject of the next food emergency demonstration which will be held at 2.30, Wednesday, March 6 at the Wedgewood school, Rye Center. Every woman in Rye is urged to attend this lecture which will contain much valuable information.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Ellen Augusta Lewis.

"From the voiceless lips of the unreplying dead there comes no word; but in the night of death hope sees a sign, and, listening, love can hear the rustle of a wing."

The death occurred at her residence on State street this morning of Mrs. Ellen Augusta Lewis, widow of Thomas Lewis, and the youngest of seven children of the late Hon. John Laighton and Mary Vaughan Laighton, born October 3, 1825. She was the last survivor of one of the oldest families in the city, a forcible reminder of that Scriptural text, "And all that generation were gathered unto their fathers."

Mrs. Lewis had been sick only a few days. The end came peacefully and quietly as the dear life had been endowed all through existence. She is survived by a devoted son and a daughter-in-law, and more faithful attendants and worshippers at the mother shrine it would be impossible to find. A beautiful old age of patriarchal duration, is perhaps the most enviable feature of human life. To have lived beyond the octogenarian age and in all that time to have been a perpetual delight not only to her family but to a large circle of friends who were glad to do her honor and who visited her as another Saint Cecilia, creates a rare biography.

Much in loving memory of those who have passed from among us is written that is wholly true only in the estimation of a partial friend; but, oftener, more that is doubly true and due is forever unwritten. Words cannot carry the overtones of a lofty life, nor figures of speech record their beauty. We feel and hear them best when the silver cord is loosened.

A delightful temperament, clear faculties, a remarkable spirituality, shown in Mrs. Lewis' face and made a call and conversation a liberal education in the humanities. Her rare attractions, her loving and gracious personality, springing from a large heart; her inherent kindness were potent factors in the influence she unconsciously wielded. She made everybody of whatever position in life, with whom she came in contact care for and honor her through a genuine womanliness which was one of her strongest characteristics. She simply lived to do good, for goodness was one of the benedictions of her long and beautiful life.

And farewell, mother, companion, aunt, friend, And what more fitting to close our tribute than this from her brother, the late Albert Laighton's volume, exquisite and hopeful as it be:

TO MY SOUL.

Guest from a hotter world, Oh, tell me where the peaceful valleys

SAVE THE HENS FOR EGGS

Concord, Feb. 26.—The recent regulations of the U. S. Food Administration prohibiting the killing of hens and pullets between Feb. 11 and May 1, has probably aroused greater interest than any rule of the administration since the promulgation of the wheat conservation regulations.

A phase of the rule which allowed the purchase, shipment or sale between February 11th and February 23 of hens and pullets which were either killed or shipped prior to February 11 created some misunderstanding but not as much as the general purpose and scope of the entire regulations.

First it must be understood that the movement was instituted by the Department of Agriculture. The poultry and egg section of the United States food administration felt that the move was a highly desirable one. Thirty of the most representative poultry and egg men in the country were called into conference at Washington. These men, together with practical poultry and egg men of the administration, agreed that everyone should heartily co-operate with the Department of Agriculture in seeing that the campaign urging farmers to refrain from selling hens from the 11th of February to the first of May should be vigorously prosecuted. As a consequence of the activities of the Department of Agriculture and the opinion of the thirty-odd practical poultry and egg men the ruling which is now so well known was promulgated.

In regard to it the administration says that every hen sold before May first represents a food loss to the nation of about 30 eggs. The total loss represented by the customary selling of hens between the above mentioned dates is 150,000,000 eggs. The value of these eggs is about 80 per cent of what the hens are actually worth, so that the program should not entail a loss to the farmer but an actual gain. This program has created protest from people who state that for every pound of poultry not consumed a corresponding pound of beef or other meats will be used. It is nevertheless a fact that the killing of hens before and during the heavy spring lay is a wasteful practice, just as wasteful as the killing of fresh milk cows for beef. The administration believes that by enforcing the program the prices will be kept within reason, which could not otherwise be done.

The percentage of so-called culls or worthless hens and pullets is comparatively so small as to be almost negligible and their value for food purposes, should be we understand, increased rather than decreased during the above mentioned period.

BOSTON LAWYER A SUICIDE

Boston, Feb. 26.—Roger P. Sturgis, prominent lawyer, of 20 Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay, was found dead in his office in the Ames building by his stenographer today, a bullet hole through his head and a 38-calibre revolver by his side.

Marion L. Kitzredge, the stenographer, on her return from dinner, noticed that Mr. Sturgis was slumped into his chair at his desk, in room 67, in a manner she thought strange. She rushed to his side. Even before she could see his face, she caught sight of the revolver on the floor. Then she saw that a bullet had entered his mouth, and torn a horrible wound in the back of his head.

Before she fainted she summoned men from an adjoining office. They notified the police and appealed for help to the Relief Hospital, Haymarket square.

The ambulance reached the office almost as soon as the policemen from the Court square station. Dr. Rockwell, in charge of the ambulance, after one look at Mr. Sturgis, announced that he was dead.

Believe It a Suicide
The police, in the belief that the death was suicide, examined Mr. Sturgis' desk, finding papers which they believed shed some light on the cause. Just what these papers were was not divulged. It was believed, however, that there was a note indicating suicide.

Medical Examiner Magenth was notified and ordered things left undisturbed until he had made an examination of the room.

Graduate of Harvard
Roger Paxton Sturgis was born in Philadelphia, Pa., March 21, 1852, son of Robert Shaw and Susan Belmont Sturgis. He was graduated from Harvard with the degree of bachelor of arts in the class of 1881; studied for two years in the Harvard law school, after which he entered the law office of Brooks & Nichols, and was admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1887.

He married Miss Mildred Frayer, daughter of Lawrence Frayer of Covington, Ky., and had practised law in Boston since 1887. Mr. Sturgis was a member of the Somerset Club and of the Myopia Hunt Club.

CAMOUFLAGE IN FRENCH ARMY

Paris, Feb. 26.—"Camouflage," or the art of making a soldier look like a tree, a battery of artillery look like a clump of bushes, an army headquarters like a peaceable farm, and a village like a few acres of pasture land is how said to have been originated, by Commandant Kopenhagen of the French army. Experiments were made in October, 1912, at the Camp of Avenir the object then in view being to render a troop of infantry invisible to observers in airplanes.

The success then achieved did not

FIRE THREATENS BOSTON YARD

Boston, Feb. 26.—Fire that started in the two-story wooden building at 23 and 25 Front Street, Charlestown, occupied by the Wilkins Bros' stable and the Boston Wagon Manufacturing Company, threatened the freight sheds of the Boston & Maine railroad this afternoon and showered the waterfront with sparks clear to the navy yard.

Employees of the wagon company received their first warning that the stable was ablaze by the collapse of the top of the brick wall that separated the two buildings.

Three Alarms
They rushed out to find the stable afire, and flames shooting through the roof. Three alarms from box 418 were sounded in rapid succession, concentrating not only all the Charlestown apparatus, but engines from the North end.

The high wind ripped off the roof of the burning building in flying sections, scattering them all over Charlestown. A train loaded with potatoes, crossing Warren bridge, was set afire. The driver saved his wagon by dumping the potatoes into the street.

Traffic Halted
All traffic over the Warren bridge was held up and employees in nearby buildings organized volunteer fire corps to extinguish sparks that continually threatened to start new fires.

Two firemen were injured when one of the walls of the stable collapsed showering them with debris. They were J. H. Barlow, of engine 36 and J. Conlithorne, of engine 32. Both men refused to be taken to the hospital.

Waverly House Near
Near the burning building is the Waverly House, in City square, (the back of which overlooks the stable). The Waverly House has been the scene of several serious fires. In one of which several lives were lost.

Also endangered was the army and Navy Y. M. C. A., recently opened back of the Waverly House.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day
Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy with a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can instead feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal, before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the insidious poisons.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have hollow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions arranged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

GERMAN ROADS SHOW INCREASE
Amsterdam, Feb. 26.—The official information that the receipts of the German railways have increased by $15,000,000 since the war might lead people to suppose that the railways had benefited by the war. The official reports, however, show that this is not the case. In consequence of the advances in wages and in the cost of all materials, the profits have not only been fully absorbed, but there is an actual deficit which is likely to increase.

JUNK DEALERS DON'T LIKE THE INCREASED FEE

Say They Have No Protection Against Out of Town People Doing Business in This City.

It is reported that the local junk dealers are not taking kindly to the increased fee as voted by the police board which now has entire jurisdiction over the junk business. One of the leading junk men stated today that the several men engaged in this line were to have a meeting and take some action in regard to the price set by the board.

They will also bring up for consideration the matter of out-of-town junkmen coming to this city and doing a good business with corporations.

They haul junk from Portsmouth and are not required to pay a cent for the purchases made here.

The local junk dealers claim that in such a deal they have no protection whatever. They maintain that other business men of Portsmouth are protected against anything of this kind by state and city laws, and that dealers should not be allowed to come in from outside territory without paying for such a right.

It is a known fact that no city of its size has any more junk men than Portsmouth, and the police board insists that there will be no monopoly here, that everyone who has a clean record and the $25 can go in for a share of the business, but the price as set by the board will stand.

NAVY YARD WORKMEN HEARD FROM AGAIN

Want Another Change in the Trains on the Dover Branch.

When the workmen from Dover and other places who are employed on the navy yard get what they want for train service to and from Portsmouth, the Boston and Maine officials will be happy.

After three days of the new schedule on the Dover branch the men are now looking for another change. This time they want some accommodation for the men on the 10-hour shifts and are calling for a later departure of the train now leaving here at 5:40 p. m. Since this train was added to the schedule the men who quit work at 4:30 p. m. are not obliged to wait for it as they can get home on the train leaving at 5:05 p. m. It will be seen that it runs too late for the men quitting at 4:30 and too early for those who end the day's work at 6 p. m.

They want the 5:40 train put back to connect with the train leaving the navy yard after 5 o'clock or the navy yard train run direct to Dover.

If any change is made the Boston & Maine may arrange to run the train from Boston at 6:40 p. m. through to Dover. One thing is certain, the train service on the Portsmouth and Dover branch is keeping the Boston & Maine heads busy one way and another.

at present engaged at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, has made a thorough study of the building situation in Portsmouth for the past six weeks, and wishes to express his opinion of the great prosperity confronting Portsmouth at this very moment of the great war. Everywhere industrial enterprises are being formed; shipyards being created; navy yard employing great masses of men to meet the great industrial expansion which has developed due to our entering the war to help our allies subdue the enemy. I wish to inform the people that the one great trouble confronting the working-men is the difficulty of finding living accommodations as there can be a great improvement if the citizens would alter or build accommodations for these men and help the government to solve this problem. I will make plans, recommendations for any who desire my services. Can suggest plans for alterations, etc. Let me show you how to provide more room in your present homes. THE MAN WHO DOES THINGS

Admiral McGowan Advocates
Knockless Days.

Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, U. S. N., the man who is a believer in doing things is making a record for the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, U. S. N., and incidentally helping our efficient secretaries to win the war.

Before a distinguished body of representatives sons of "Old Penn", several French and English officers and men prominent in the professions, Admiral Samuel McGowan, paymaster-general of the navy, declared last night "the war will end just as soon as we adopt 'knockless days'."

He made this assertion at the Founders' day anniversary of the Washington Alumni of the University of Pennsylvania, celebrated by a war dinner at the University club.

Admiral McGowan who is vitally interested in seeing that the "knockless" are properly provided with food and clothing, was strong in his expression of disapproval of those who would experiment with the boys in the service.

"Let them try their ideas out on the fifty million others at home," he said.

GETTING AFTER THE TRACK WALKERS AGAIN

Railroad Detectives Arrest
Five Who Later Appear in Court.

Railroad detectives Small and Sanborn of the Boston & Maine were busy this morning in the local yard of the company and arrested five navy yard workmen who they found walking on the tracks, and charged them with trespassing. They pleaded guilty in the municipal court later in the day and the case against each was placed on file. Previous to the arrest of the five offenders the detectives gave some attention to the navy yard train and several workmen found seated in the train before it was moved to the depot were ordered out of the cars. The railroad officials say that the men must take the train at the depot and at no other place.
